This Christmas, may the peace and contentment that comes with love, understanding and igood will toward our fellow men prevail throughout the world. And for you and yours especially, may the meaning of Christmas be deeper, its hopes brighter than ever before.

With special services, churches in the Belleville area and surrounding communities will celebrate Christmas — a holiday that is, first of all, a holy day.

Festivals of light, music and prayer are dedicated to the birth of a Holy Child in Bethlehem nearly two thousand years ago.

For Christian believers, each of these — light, music, prayer— has a special meaning associated with Christmas.

“And lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, til it came and stood over where the young child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy,” Matthew 2:9-10.

The star that guided the Wise Men shines as a symbol of Christ, the Light of the world, and it is in turn symbolized by all the bright lights that twinkle at Christmas today.

Candlelight services reflect the radiance of the holiday in Christmas observances everywhere.

“And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.” Luke 2:13-14.

Since the angelic chorus brought “glad tidings of great joy” to shepherds watching in the fields, hymns and carols of rejoicing have told the wonder and glory of Christmas.

That the words of angels composed the first of all Christmas carols is a thought repeated again and again in favorite songs of the season.

“Hark, the Herald Angels Sing,” makes this thought its theme, and another familiar carol, “It Came Upon A Midnight Clear,” is devoted to “that glorious song of old,” on the night when “the world in solemn stillness lay to hear the angels sing.”

Christmas music in the churches celebrates the joy of the Nativity.

“And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary, his mother, and fell down and worshipped him.” Matthew 2:11.

“And the shepherds returned glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.” Luke 2:20.

Thus wrote two of Christ's disciples, Matthew and Luke, telling of the awe and wonder, the joy and reverence experienced alike by wise men and shepherds.

Especially at Christmas, in church services and private devotions, Christians give prayerful thanks to God for the miracle of the manger.

SANTA RECEIVES CITY'S KEYS — Romulus Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael presents the keys to the City of Romulus to Santa Claus upon his arrival last Friday evening. Romulus' Christmas program and Tree Lighting ceremonies opening the Christmas season at the city's municipal complex follow Santa's arrival. Mrs. Marie DeBusscher, city recreation director, looks on. The Christmas program was under the supervision of the recreation department.

Goodfellows sale successful

The Romulus Goodfellows newspaper sale held last Friday and Saturday was reported to be a successful sales campaign.

John VonStipdonk, co-chairman of the newspaper sale, reported Monday that sales on Friday fell below expectations due the heavy snow storm but picked up sharply on Saturday.

All issues of the Romulus Roman, with the exception of a few, were sold.

The 1971 financial goal of $1,500 plus this year is still $200 below what Goodfellows hoped the newspaper sale would bring, but they are hopeful that late contributions will make this up.

VanStipdonk also reported that toys left over from the Christmas party held last week under the sponsorship of the Romulus Recreation Department as well as many toys from the Helping Hand Thrift Shop of Romulus were received by the Goodfellows.

Over the weekend the Goodfellows filled 75 baskets with toys to be distributed to Romulus' needy children.

There are approximately 400 needy children in Romulus to whom the Goodfellows want to bring a Merry Christmas. Late donations are welcomed.

Recipients of the Goodfellows gifts this year will receive food baskets and certificates for clothing.

Romulus students learn every aspect of a meal in classes

For the past two months the boys and girls of Homeroom 212 at the Romulus Junior High School have been getting ready to serve a festive Christmas luncheon.

Math studies have had to do with costs of food items along with also weights and measures while health classes have examined nutrition and good habits in food preparation. A field trip to the Jiffie Mix Co. in Chelsea helped youngsters understand how the products they were using were prepared.

Art projects revolved around seasonally decorated placemats, centerpieces and invitations. English classes decided upon proper wording for the invitations.

"All of our studies were in some way connected with the project," said Mrs. Bess Silverston, who, with Miss Deborah Stephens, teaches the class. "The project actually evolved from a cooking project. We also thought it would be nice to earn some money," she added.

Beverages included coffee, tea and lemonade. While there was no charge for the luncheon, the class made it clear on the invitation that it would appreciate a donation. Costs for the meal had been taken from the class budget.

Among those who helped prepare and serve the luncheon were Jimmy Beavers, Gary Cox, Kathy Barnes, Toney Gibson, Denardo Green, Victor Jefferson, Garry Leake, Henry Morris, Timothy Parks and Tina Redmond.

Romulus wants more lights on Wayne Road

Romulus City Assessor Harold E. Reiner has been instructed by Romulus City Council to contact the Detroit Edison Co. for an estimate on the installation of mercury vapor lights on Wayne Road from Goddard Road to Bibbins Street in Romulus.

City Councilman James C. Stewart complained about inadequate street lighting along that Wayne Road area and proposed that council take action for additional street lighting.

His colleagues agreed and ordered Reiner to initiate steps for more lighting by contacting Edison.

Stewart also reported that entrance roads into the Romulus Municipal Complex, located on the southeast corner of S. Wayne and Goddard Roads, lack sufficient lighting. The Municipal Complex can be entered from both Goddard and Wayne roads.

Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael told the council that the City Building Authority, which is the Municipal Complex, will be informed of the additional lighting request.

by people living outside of Romulus.

The mayor has proposed setting up a site in the city where residents can bring their large discarded items. They would then be picked up by the city for transportation to rubbish dumps that are located outside of Romulus.

"The problem of rubbish is becoming one of the major concerns of most communities, especially the City of Romulus. We have got to act immediately in solving this problem," Mayor Carmichael said Monday.

The study now under way by the mayor and council will determine possible cost of large item pick-ups and the appropriate manner for collection and subsequent disposal.

County approves expenses

Commissioner DeSana, on the other hand, said he objected to the timing of the measure, although he did favor the expense account as amended.

"The news media has to get credit," he said, explaining that it was through public criticism that the measure was amended to make the commissioners account for their expenses.

"I'm personally satisfied that they did that," he said. "But I still believe that when you run for public office, you should spell out what the job pays, what the benefits are."

DeSana said he felt the measure should have waited until the next election, so anyone opposing an incumbent in the election knew exactly what he would receive if elected.

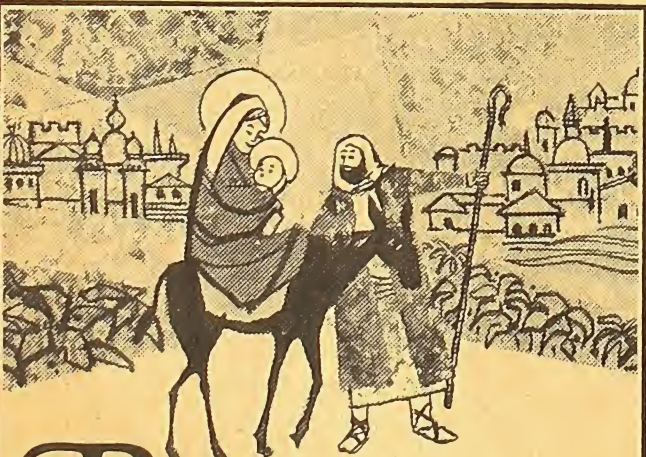

He said he did not agree with the commissioners "setting our salary prior to the next November election."

SEMCOG sewer needs financing

The Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) has come up with a plan to channel all sanitary sewage in the Huron River region that stretches from Ann Arbor to Detroit to the river into two treatment plants one at Pointe Mouillee, the second at Wyandotte.

The Mouillee project, including a secondary treatment plant at Pointe Mouillee plus huge interceptor pipes, will cost an estimated $1.7 billion, according to statements at SEMCOG meetings. The Pointe Mouillee plant alone will cost $100-million.

Using a "Big Stick," SEMCOG is trying to force all communities within the Huron River Region to come up with a final verdict by mid-December ... now delayed to Jan 14 because of protests.

The cloud hanging over the heads of local public officials is state and federal grants. SEMCOG is the agency in Michigan which must ok applications for sewer treatment facility grants. If cities and towns don't go along with the $1.7 billion project, they won't get federal or state aid on costly sewer projects locally.

We, for one, don't like the use of a "Big Stick" to force towns to submit to a costly project.

Nor do we appreciate the way this program has been presented. Some communities, Trenton is one good example, got the proposed plan on a Monday and was expected to vote on it by Thursday.

SEMCOG, a voluntary agency of government Riverview and Ecorse, for example - are not members of SEMCOG. Therefore, these cities did not even receive a copy of the plan. Furthermore, these cities do not have a vote on it because they are not members of SEMCOG, a voluntary agencies of governments in six counties without actual government status.

Yet, SEMCOG proposes a $1.7 billion program imposing added taxes on citizens without a vote either of local city councils or representatives of the people.

Furthermore, SEMCOG proposes to abandon Trenton's $4-million sewer plant; Grosse Ile's multi-million dollar plant; and plants equally costly to taxpayers in Rockwood, Riverview and Flat Rock.

Fortunately, one SEMCOG member - Ann Arbor - has raised a storm of protests causing a delay in a final decision on the regional sewer plan.

Convinced that its own treatment plant is just as good as the $100-million plant SEM-

COG proposes Ann Arbor has raised a storm of protests causing a delay in a final decision on the regional sewer plan.

If Ann Arbor has secondary treatment ... and plans to go to tertiary treatment...how could its plant be worse than the One Big Plant at Pointe Mouillee that will have only secondary treatment?

What will right-of-way costs for interceptors be? For constructing interceptors through rocky ground where blasting will be necessary to lay the pipes?

Ann Arbor claims time is needed to gather missing information before a decision is reached.

These same arguments voiced by Ann Arbor apply to dozens of other communities in southeast Michigan:

They, too, are objecting to being forced to build interceptors to Lake Erie; they, too, object to abandoning existing plants which could be expanded, equipped with tertiary treatment facilities, and made more foolproof than one big plant.

They, too, want to know if the plan is vastly increasing public expenditure for no environmental gain.

While asking these and other questions about SEMCOG's proposed regional sewage disposal plan, Ann Arbor officials, the other day, pointed out one more thing that Downriver communities should weigh carefully:

"The future of SEMCOG no doubt contains hundreds of proposed mergers," Ann Arbor officials said. "We will have to consider regional solutions to problems now being handled on a local basis - transportation, storm drains, water..."

Now is the time to lay the ground rules for decision-making on the tremendously expensive public projects.

Will the communities buckel under the Big Stick? Or will they stand up under the clout to demand the most economical, the most feasible plan - and to know the answer to all questions before being forced to decide?

This year's Party was by far the best this city has had to date. Let me personally thank each and every person participating in this years program.

Huron handles drug situation -- counselor

To the editor:

Does Huron High School have an anti-drug abuse program? Of course we do!

We at Huron are not "standing still." We are working with our students. Although the fight against drugs is a tough one for students, parents and educators, there are ways and means of coping with it.

Perhaps folks do not realize that our high school teachers are constantly integrating pertinent information concerning the potential danger of drug abuse within their classroom instruction where applicable. Making a "sensational issue" out of the problem only encourages student experimentation.

Counselors talk with students who seek help on an individual basis, but you may not hear about it, for all conferences are confidential for the personal protection and privacy of the individual student.

As a representative from Huron High School, I have been attending "DRUGS" at Plymouth Junior High School. This is a year-long program designed especially to develop counseling techniques in dealing with individual cases of drug abuse.

More than this, we cannot do - for the first and foremost responsibility to refuse to misuse drugs belongs to the individual student, to whom parents have a responsibility to teach morals and values and teachers have a responsibility to educate and counsel.

One is a minor problem that has not reached the stage of a major problem. However, if we have only one student abuser we have a problem.

So - if we really have a so-called drug abuse problem with drugs being sold and purchased, Huron High School can conquer it, not by "screaming, shouting, headlines" and false rumors which merely arouse excitement, curiosity and exaggerated reports, but rather by means of regular daily classroom procedure, counseling techniques, and support of the community drug program being co-ordinated by Roger Benner.

Speaking of schools

Concern of Sinclair causes concern too

By BYRON K. ANTCLIFF
Superintendent of Huron School District

Well, he's free for the time being, at least. John Sinclair walked out of Jackson prison a free man at the direction of the Michigan Supreme Court.

For many people, this is a very disturbing incident. Equally disturbing, is the reason why so many of us are upset over his release.

There can be little doubt that the basic reasons for John Sinclair's imprisonment was not the crime he committed, but the lack of trust we have in ourselves and others and the underlying causes for that lack of trust.

Our fear of John Sinclair is not based on the act for which he was sent to prison. Indeed, it is not even based on John Sinclair. Rather, our fear is based on what we think he might do to us by his words. We do not trust ourselves, nor do we trust our young people to hear what he may say, for fear that we may believe it.

This has been brought about by the failure of the family, schools, and the church to provide young people with the tools they need so badly. This tool is simply the ability to evaluate what is said on the basis of its worth without regard to who is saying it.

We have found many ways to convince people to take a certain course of action. Few of these are based on the right or wrongness of that action. Rather, we throw in side issues and stir up emotions which make people willing to move and then we simply provide the direction we want them to move in.

We use sayings to convince them of the rightness of our cause. Somehow little trite sayings always seem to be available to be applied to any situation we wish. If we wish people to not act at the present time we say: "Look before you leap." If we want them to move now, we say: "He who hesitates is lost." If we wish a small group, we say: "Two's company, three's a crowd." If we want a lot of people around; "There is safety in numbers."

The advertisers play on our emotions and our inability to evaluate something on its own merits. Few of us ever buy a product because of the value of it. Instead, we pay an increased cost so that advertisements may be written that will direct us what to buy.

What makes this happen? A great deal of the problem, I believe, rests in the fact that in our institutions we approach decision making as a cold calculating process without regards to feelings. Indeed it is anything but that. We expect our institutions to make decisions on an emotional basis, and then wonder why the leaders who appeal to our emotions destroy the ideals we hold so sacred.

We have established a taboo, that people in our educational institutions and our churches do not talk about feelings, that it is inappropriate and then wonder why when an individual comes along and talks about their feelings the young people are so willing to go in that direction.

Until such time as we devote our time and energies to making our place of business, our churches, our schools and our families, places where we deal with our feelings and our emotions, and learn to judge issues on the basis of their own merits rather than the cause that brought about them, the John Sinclair's will lead our young people.

Thanks are extended for library open house

To the editor:

As a parting gift, no one could have asked for more than the lovely open house held in my honor at the library last Saturday.

I am deeply grateful to all those who made it such a delightfully joyous occasion. The faces of so many friends, who took time out at such a busy time of year, make a picture I shall enjoy always. The cookies and punch looked delectable. They were a gift in themselves.

I would especially thank Lee Smith, the members of the Van Buren Garden Club, the members of the Belleville Junior Study Club, Mr. Kaulitz and Dr. Muse for presenting the plaque (and giving up the game) and all those who assisted in dispensing the refreshments, and last but not least the dear staff members, Mary Ives, Helen Beasecker, Elizabeth Lechinsky and Judy Techworth, whose cooperation, diligence, patience and friendship contributed not only to the joy of the day but many memories to be cherished.

Many thanks to the Enterprise Roman for their never failing cooperation.

Michigan tourist trade not declining

Michigan's tourist business is not on the wane. Quite the contrary. Recent surveys conducted by the four regional tourist associations and local Chambers of Commerce, in both the upper and lower peninsulas, show that Michigan made another impressive gain in '71, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Surveys conducted by the four associations were directed primarily to tourist-oriented businesses such as motels, hotels, resorts and recreational attractions.

The results reveal gains in all areas between June 1 and Sept. 30, 1971. Tourist business in the Upper Peninsula was up 9.9 per cent over 1970, West Michigan registered an overall average increase of 10 per cent with some businesses and resorts in the area reporting a whopping 30 per cent jump. East Michigan increased its tourist trade by 6.5 per cent and Southeast Michigan showed a 6 per cent average increase.

Additionally, top rock bands, mod fashion shows, model car contests, Soap Box Derby car displays and other innovations will be featured. The show annually attracts custom car builders throughout the nation.

One 20th anniversary feature this year will be a Street Rod championship. Winners of the most outstanding altered rod, street rod, and pre-war custom awards in other International Championship Auto Shows, as well as all street rods that have won best rod awards, have been invited to the championship competition. Another highlight will be the annual "Miss Autorama" contest, open to girls between 18 and 25 years of age. Entries may be made at Promotions, Inc., 19717 East Nine Mile Rd., St. Clair Shores.

Autorama attendance record of 109,897 set in 1970. Show hours are 5 to 11 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 21, and from noon to 11 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday (Jan. 22-23).

The 1970 Wayne State University football team set a school pass defense record by allowing Central State just two yards in the air and

With one exception, key reporting stations, which provide a valid barometer for tourist traffic, report gratifying increases for the '71 summer season.

Attendance at Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum ran 15.1 per cent over last year. Northville Downs Harness Racing enjoyed a 15 per cent increase in both attendance and parimutuel wagering. Traffic across the Ambassador Bridge at Detroit was up 13.7 per cent however, traffic through the Detroit Tunnel was 1 per cent under 1970.

At the tip of the Lower Peninsula, Mackinac Bridge crossings were up 6.1 per cent. At Sault Ste. Marie, in the eastern Upper Peninsula, the International Bridge station recorded a 3.5 per cent increase.

On the camping side of the picture, state park authorities show a total attendance increase for the four months of 6.73 per cent with 4.25 per cent more camp permits being issued than in 1970.

Of course, not every business included in any of the surveys reported an increase. Some fell below their 1970 trade, some remained static. Regardless, anyway you look at it, all the results show that Michigan is attracting more visitors each year and its tourist business is continuing to rise.

To all our friends and neighbors we sing a joyful carol of holiday wishes... love, peace, happiness, and togetherness.

'Millhouse' is no laughing matter

New Yorker Films presents "Millhouse," a documentary produced and directed by Emile de Antonio, edited and sound by Mary Lampson. Black and white. Rated G, 92 minutes. At the Studio New Center.

By HOWARD ALLEN
Eagle Movie Critic

Emile de Antonio, he of "In the Year of the Pig" and "Rush to Judgment," has never fancied himself the most objective of movie-makers, documentary look at the career of Richard Nixon.

The premise from which de Antonio starts, that Nixon is ridiculous (his film is billed "a white comedy in the tradition of the Marx Brothers") is unacceptable. Whatever the President is, he is not ridiculous. A menace to some, a schemer to others - but certainly not ridiculous.

The film goes awry in its surface additives - the garbling of the President's middle name, Milhous; Nixon's speech to the 1968 Republican convention that they would win the election for the dying Dwight Eisenhower, counterpointed with Pat O'Brien's Knute Rockne speech in the Notre Dame locker room that they should "win one for the Gipper;" and "Chiquita Banana" jingles scoring Vice-President Nixon's Latin American visit when his car was stoned.

It would have been far more effective to leave the documentary untouched. There are interesting recollections of Nixon's mud-slinging days when he defeated Jerry Voorheis and Helen Gahagan Douglas by screaming "communist" and staged the Alger Hiss-Whittaker Chambers confrontation.

A vignette like Nixon's "Checkers" speech in which he explained his financing during the 1952 Vice-presidential campaign in the context of 20 years later becomes such hilarious soap opera that nothing de Antonio can do for humor can match it.

The film dwells overlong on Nixon's campaign style in 1968, which may be irrelevant. As "The Selling of the President" indicated, the Nixon of 1968 was a packaged product, but Nixon did not do the packaging.

Most unworthy are the demeaning views of Nixon's life style, which should be his own business as long as he doesn't go around pulling the ears of cocker spaniels. De Antonio implies that there is something unworthy about inviting senior adults to share a Thanksgiving dinner, possibly something middle-American and cornball, but if de Antonio wants to worry about something he would be advised to expend his efforts worrying about Nixon's economic policy.

As Judith Crist pointed out, "Rmn is no laughing matter."

'STAR SPANGLED GIRL' - Sandy Duncan, as Amy Cooper, is joined by Todd Susman, as Norman, as they crawl under a house looking for a lost cat in Paramount Pictures' production, "Star Spangled Girl". The movie is adapted from Neil Simon's Broadway play by Arnold Margolin and Jim Parker.

'Star Spangled Girl' third-rate Neil Simon

By HOWARD ALLEN
Eagle Movie Critic

A bad year for the Baltimore Orioles might be a great one for the Washington Senators and what the $100 investor calls a big deal is loose change to a Wall Street Wheeler and dealer. Thus, "Star Spangled Girl" which ran 262 performances on Broadway and returned its investment might be accounted a hit by a lesser playwright - but for Neil Simon, the only playwright in decades to have three shows running on Broadway simultaneously, it's a distinct miss.

Perhaps Simon, who has scripted his own films for years, recognized this after a successful screen run of "Odd Couple," "Barefoot in the Park" and "Plaza Suite," the film version of "Star Spangled Girl" was written by someone else, Arnold Margolin and Jim Parker. If they didn't do it much damage, they didn't help it much either.

Sandy Duncan stars as Amy Cooper, an all-American girl, a southern belle from the Olympics. Her team who has come to Los Angeles to train for the next Olympics, moving in an adjacent bungalow to two penniless radicals, Andy Hobart (Tony Roberts) and Norman Cornell (Todd Susman) who have been publishing an underground newspaper, Nitty Gritty, and living mostly on their wits.

Hobart, the hustler, chisels on his printing bill, plays up to his bizarre landlady in lieu of paying the rent and smuggles food out of the neighborhood market. But, when Cornell, the writing half of the team, goes absolutely dippy over Amy, Hobart has no answer. The more Amy spurns Norman, the more ridiculous Norman acts.

When Norman invades the YWCA where Amy teaches swimming for the third time and Amy gets fired, Andy, in order to keep Norman writing, has to hire Amy as a secretary. Naturally, Amy becomes attracted to Andy and this threatens to split the friends completely. Norman's decision to leave and take a job with the Associated Press provokes total slapstick.

If this sounds a lot like Henry Aldridge 30 years later, it's meant to. Simon's usually deals in wholly believable characters, no matter how broadly drawn. But Norman and Andy seem rather like fugitives from animated cartoons.

It is usually considered proper to rate performances strictly in terms of acting. Yet Miss Duncan, Roberts and Susman seem inevitably to be characterized in terms of whom they resemble. Miss Duncan looks so much like Julie Andrews it's frightening and she bubbles like an out-of-control Dinah Shore. When Roberts starts spitting his words out, I defy anyone in the audience not to think of a Don Adams parody.

As for Susman, the goofy Norman, the part was tailor-made for Huntz Hall's "Bowery Boys" character. And much of the dialog sounds like a refugee from a Bowery Boys script too: "Why don't you take her flowers?" "No that's not a big enough gift." "OK, then take her a tree." Somehow, Margolin and Parker have not treated the famed Simon wit too kindly.

"Star Spangled Girl" is often amusing, but what might be amusing for somebody else is distinctly third rate Simon.

Toy show continues at museum

The delightful children's fantasy "the Wizard of Oz" provides the theme for the 1972 biennial toy show at the Detroit Historical Museum.

A trip down the magic "yellow brick road" to the fabled land of enchantment is sparked by detours to the lair of the "Cowardly Lion" who, is the Museum's version is provided with a protective force of his fellows, fluffy, puffy and stuffy bears, dogs, cats and rabbits, plus all the other denizens of the animal world who have turned up as cuddly creatures for children to cherish.

You will spy the "Tin Woodsman" in the company of his peers - all products of the imaginative tinner's art. From cooking stoves to trolley cars, you will delight in the variety of tin-made toys designed for the pleasure of good boys and girls.

The "Scarecrow" quite properly is ensconced near the barnyard, but leading the way to a covey of houses, barns and buildings (doll-size of course) completely furnished from attic to cellar with scaled down replicas of tables, chairs and bedroom suites; books, plants and garden seats; curtains, rugs and bric-a-brac; chamber sets that "take-you-back" and sewing machines, even clothes pins.

'Stately Dinners' set at Meadowbrook Hall

A tasteful Christmas gift for those who appreciate the unusual is an IOU to a Stately Dinner at Meadow Brook Hall, the 100 room Tudor Mansion home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson.

You can give the life of a private mansion, for an evening in January through April, to that special person and place a photograph of the Hall under the Christmas tree.

Four elegant dinners, embellished with wines, featuring international themes, offer a return to the days of relaxed, stately dining in the unequalled atmosphere, service and surroundings of Meadow Brook Hall. After dinner thematic entertainment in the ballroom will feature outstanding students in the School of Performing Arts selected by Dean W.W. Kent.

The International cuisine of the first Stately Dinner, Friday, Jan. 28, will be complimented by the performance of selected numbers from the Studio Company of the Academy of Dramatic Art's production of "....and All That Jazz," which is touring Michigan during December.

Written by Paul Lee, British actor, director, television writer and member of the academy staff, the review's songs, dances and dialog are an Englishman's impression of the Roaring '20's - an American era which produced the building of great mansions with European influence by the founding giants of the auto industry.

Cuisine and entertainment themes for the following stately dinners are: Thursday, Feb. 24, Italian; Friday, March 17, French; and Thursday April 13, American.

PREPARING TABLE PIECES — Three students, members of the high school completion adult night school at Romulus Senior High School, prepare Christmas table pieces for a Christmas banquet held last Wednesday prior to the start of Christmas vacation. The students are (from left) Kathy Piskuric, Paul Garrison and Jeanette Costa. The new semester for adult night school starts on Feb. 7.

Adult education classes celebrate

Two Romulus Continuing Education groups celebrated Christmas last week with special events.

Family and friends enjoyed an open house featuring Christmas desserts prepared by the mothers in the Adult prehighschool evening school. The highlight of the evening was a surprise visit from Santa, who had gifts for all the children present.

Pre-high school classes will resume on Jan. 4 with an invitation to new students to join. Classes meet every Tuesday and Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Romulus Junior High School, 11401 Olive St.

The Romulus Adult High School students observed Christmas with a banquet last Wednesday at the high school.

More than 100 people shared an old fashioned pot-luck supper and saw three lucky students with their Christmas dinner of ham, provided by the evening school teaching staff.

Winners were Feaster Wells, Linda Fleming and Geraldine Flanagan.

The students have made special guests from the board of education and high school maintenance and custodial staff. School board members who attended were Carl Morris, Ron Christenson, Davis Draper and Jason Lovett. Other guests included Thomas Janack and Mrs. Lorena Burton.

PTAs want to accept donations for field trips

The Van Buren Board of Education has under study a proposal made by several PTA groups to accept donations to assist in the financing of additional field trips for school children.

The PTA groups at Elwell, Rawsonville Road, West Willow and Haggerty Elementary schools requested school board approval to collect donations for any additional trips.

The school district's present operational budget allots approximately 50 cents per student for field trips or about $300 for each elementary school. During the school year trips are programmed for various places throughout the area.

At last week's school board meeting when the PTA's proposal was considered, School Superintendent Dale E. Kaulitz stated that he did not know if this proposal is a lot different from accepting equipment for schools from the PTA, as the schools have done in the past.

Board Member Dr. Richard R. Muse stated that a proposal such as this would deprive the schools who do not have PTA's of extra field trips.

School Board President Charles W. Bole asked that the proposal be referred to a joint PTA-school committee.

A motion by Board Member James L. Sayre, who was supported by member Elwood Bos, calling for the elementary field trip committee to get together with representatives of the PTAs from each school and draw up recommendations to present to the board was approved.

The meeting is to include representatives from schools which do not have PTA's.

UNBELIEVABLY UNTRUE!!!

Domestic car sales skyrocket

Sales of American-built automobiles, which zoomed to record levels in October, still are skyrocketing—and dealers in Western Wayne County are, for the most part, sharing the boom.

A sampling of area dealerships showed only one with sales down for last month.

Paul Hennis, general manager of Stu Evans, Inc., Lincoln-Mercury in Garden City, says sales were up approximately 35 per cent in October.

"We've got a better line of cars than ever, and the freeze helped some," Hennis said. He attributes a combination of things, including expected repeal of the excise tax, as being responsible for increased sales.

both 1971 and 1972 sales are up about 20 per cent. Red Holman, Pontiac reported that overall sales are up 25 per cent over last year at this time.

Pete Brady, of Holman, said that the 1970 auto strike had to be taken into account. He said sales could more accurately be compared to those in 1969.

Feister Chrysler - Plymouth in Westland reported that its sales are down for the first phase of the Nixon Economic Policy.

On the import scene, Volkswagen seemed to be losing what the domestics were gaining. A Volkswagen dealer in Ypsilanti reported his sales down 25 per cent since August.

Nationwide, both General Motors and Ford reported record sales for the first 10

Weighty criminal code bill is out of committee

EDUARDE E. MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

A bill which would extensively revise and consolidate the state's criminal code has been reported out by the House Judiciary Committee, putting it into position for eventual debate and vote.

The purpose of the weighty, 250-page bill is to restructure and streamline Michigan's criminal law.

One of the main features of the bill is a uniform classification of offenses, a system of indeterminate sentencing for each classification and a reduction in the number of crimes, now on the books.

The proposal breaks down offenses to class A, B and C felonies, Class A, B, and C misdemeanors, and violations.

Maximum sentences for the three types of felonies are 20, 10 and five years respectively. Maximums for the three types of misdemeanors are one year, 90 days and 30 days, while the top sentence for violations would be 15 days. State corrections officials would decide what part of the maximum sentence would be served, but judges would be able to make recommendations on the prison terms.

There is also a category for persons who repeatedly commit felonies involving violence or conspiracy. They could receive a sentence of as much as 30 years. The bill would eliminate certain types of crime considered as obsolete.

Supporters of the proposal, which has been the subject of lengthy studies and reconsiderations, feel it would make law enforcement easier and, because the law would be more understandable to the layman, it would make it easier for citizens to comply with the law. They also maintain that the new code would be easier to interpret and that it would make it easier to rehabilitate criminals.

The House has approved a Senate bill which would raise the price of annual state park entrance permits while offering senior citizens the permits at a reduced rate.

The increase is necessary to properly maintain, improve and expand the state's park system. The bill would raise the annual permit fee from $3 to $5.

Any Michigan resident 65 years old or older would, however, be able to buy one of yearly permits for just $1. This is the second bill passed this session which would broaden recreational opportunities for older persons. The other, recently signed into law, offers senior citizens deer hunting licenses at reduced rates.

The park fee bill would also allow non-Michigan residents to buy a one-day camp entrance permit for $1 except in border area parks where the non-resident use is unusually high. At those parks the fee would remain at the present $2.

In a related move, the House passed a bill which would permit persons to purchase a $2 temporary fishing license which would be good for a period of three consecutive days. This measure also had been previously approved by the Senate.

A number of bills were approved in both the House and Senate. Included was a bill to increase the monetary jurisdiction of district courts. Those lower courts presently can handle cases involving as much as $3,000.

The current legislation would increase this to $10,000. The Senate had originally sought to increase the jurisdiction to no more than $5,000, but finally accepted House insistence that the limit be moved up to $10,000.

Other bills approved by the house and sent to the Senate would:

—permit minors to execute probate procedure mortgages.

—permit late certification of millage in 1971.

—place a one per cent tax on liquor to pay for a state liquor warehouse, administration building and equipment.

—increase the amount a candidate must pay as a deposit for a recount.

The House passed a Senate bill which would allow the University of Michigan Hospital to bill counties directly for services instead of going through the treasury department.

The Senate gave its approval to a House-passed bill which would remove the requirement that Wayne County collect delinquent property taxes from local units of government.

Cellar slates hearings on busing amendments

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Michigan Democratic Congressmen William D. Ford (D-15th Dist.) and John D. Dingell (D-16th Dist.) reported success this week in their efforts to secure hearings by the House Judiciary Committee on proposed anti-busing amendments to the United States Constitution.

Responding to a request from Congressmen Ford and Dingell, joined by three other members of the Michigan Democratic delegation (Martha Griffiths, James G. O'Hara and Lucien Nedzi), Chairman Emanuel Celler announced that he would schedule hearings early next year.

Celler's announcement represented a major victory for Congressmen Ford and Dingell, and for a majority of the Michigan delegation in Congress, including both political parties who have refused to sign a discharge petition designed to bring only one of numerous proposed amendments to the House floor for a vote.

They have contended that the busing issue is too complex and too far-reaching to seek a politically expedient solution with slogans, gimmicks and newspaper headlines.

In a joint statement, Congressmen Ford and Dingell explained their position:

"There are about 25 proposed Constitutional amendments pending before Congress which relate to the problem of busing and assignment of students. We do not think that Congress should limit its consideration to any single one of them nor do we think that Congress alone should be responsible for the final decision.

"Under the discharge-petition procedure, one proposed amendment would have come to the floor for a vote, with limited debate. Only members of Congress would have had the opportunity to speak out on the proposal.

"We asked Chairman Celler to conduct public hearings on all the proposed amendments, and on other aspects of the busing problem, so that every interested citizen and organization would have an opportunity to present their views. The hearings will also give Congress a chance to carefully study all proposals.

"Many of the proposed amendments were hastily drafted to satisfy one section of the country or one segment of the population. Many of them would not really accomplish what their supporters think they would.

"That is why we strongly urge all interested citizens to carefully study the wording of any proposed Constitutional amendment before they commit themselves to supporting it."

City's building keeps climbing

Building in the City of Romulus rose sharply during the month of November. Clayton Meldrum, director of the Romulus Building Department, announced Monday.

Industrial building in November was $134,405 and commercial totaled $55,000. The total number of permits issued the department was 184 compared with 164 in the previous month.

The heating department issued 54 permits and collected fees in the amount of $520. The electrical department issued 61 permits and collected $1,241 in fees. And the plumbing department issued 16 permits and collected $1,241 in fees. And the plumbing department issued 16 permits and collected $1,241 in fees. Miscellaneous permits totaled 13 and fees were $890.

PARENTS

By Carol Robson, 13

Some parents don't listen
Some parents don't understand
Some turn you down
When you need their helping hand

Some parents are bullheaded
Some treat people unfair
The kids soon grow up to think
Their parents don't really care.

Some parents keep kids home
And don't let them do much
Even when they're grown and married
Still are in their parents church.

Some parents think
Money's all that counts
They buy and buy them everything but Money can't buy love amounts.

Some parents expect too much
Comparing kids to others they know
Always worrying and always afraid
Their kids won't be something special to show.

Yet some parents give in too much
Kids get lazy, grow up too fast
Soon the kids will be all grown up
And can't remember any of their past.

But mine are none of these
They are no others to compare
They listen, understand and know
I accept their love, and all our love we share.

Santa's workshop open in Romulus

Santa's Workshop opened on Saturday morning at the Neighborhood Action Center, located on Beverly Road in Romulus, and did a brisk business among neighborhood youngsters.

The workshop, arranged by

Warehouse permit approved

An application for a building permit to construct a one-story warehouse with an estimated construction cost of $120,000 has been filed with the Romulus Building Department by Barton-Marlow, Co. contractors, of 13155 Cloverdale, Oak Park.

The warehouse is slated for construction at 29245 Wick Rd., Romulus, between Middlebelt Road and Harrison Street.

The structure is being built for Difco Laboratories of 920 Henry St., Detroit.

the Romulus Community Workers group, featured gifts, toys and decorations priced within the range of children and budget-minded parents finishing up their Christmas shopping.

In addition to the items for sale, there was a letter box for notes to Santa and a special room complete with a fireplace where Saint Nick and his wife were stationed to hear children's dreams for Christmas morning.

Santa had a big bag full of gifts for every child and Mrs. Santa had baked a special batch of cookies to give away.

Around the main room were displays of Santa and his helpers getting toys ready for the sale and the reindeers, all harnessed and straining to get underway.

"We are not trying to make money. We have had many things donated by people who want to help others but can't do it by coming out to meetings. This way we can give people a chance to buy something inexpensively and also give a lot of others the joy of sharing," said Mrs. Geneva Clark.

Romulus okays funds after CUFA is approved

The Romulus City Council has approved the expenditure of $457.58 to cover the city's share of the cost of a study to determine the social and economic needs of the city.

The funds were requested by the Communities United For Action (CUFA).

Federal approval of the operating agency designated by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has removed the last barrier to resumption of anti-poverty programs in the county outside Detroit.

The Board of Commissioners was notified this week that Communities United for Action, Inc. (CUFA), has been approved as the community action agency by the regional U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) in Chicago.

This opens the way for perhaps $1 million in federal funds to come into eight federally-designated "target areas."

The new anti-poverty agency replaces a citizens committee which was dissolved a year ago after the regional OEO refused to renew $776,000 in federal funds, charging that the program was "generally ineffective" as then structured.

CUFA was organized by the seven mayors and one township supervisor of the eight target area localities—Ecorse, Hamtramck, Highland Park, Inkster, River Rouge, Romulus, Taylor and Sumpter Township. The mayors and supervisor sit on the CUFA board of directors, along with four county commissioners and 16 residents elected from the target areas, plus others.

The Board of Commissioners designated CUFA to run the poverty program after holding a public hearing at which there was general support by those present for CUFA.

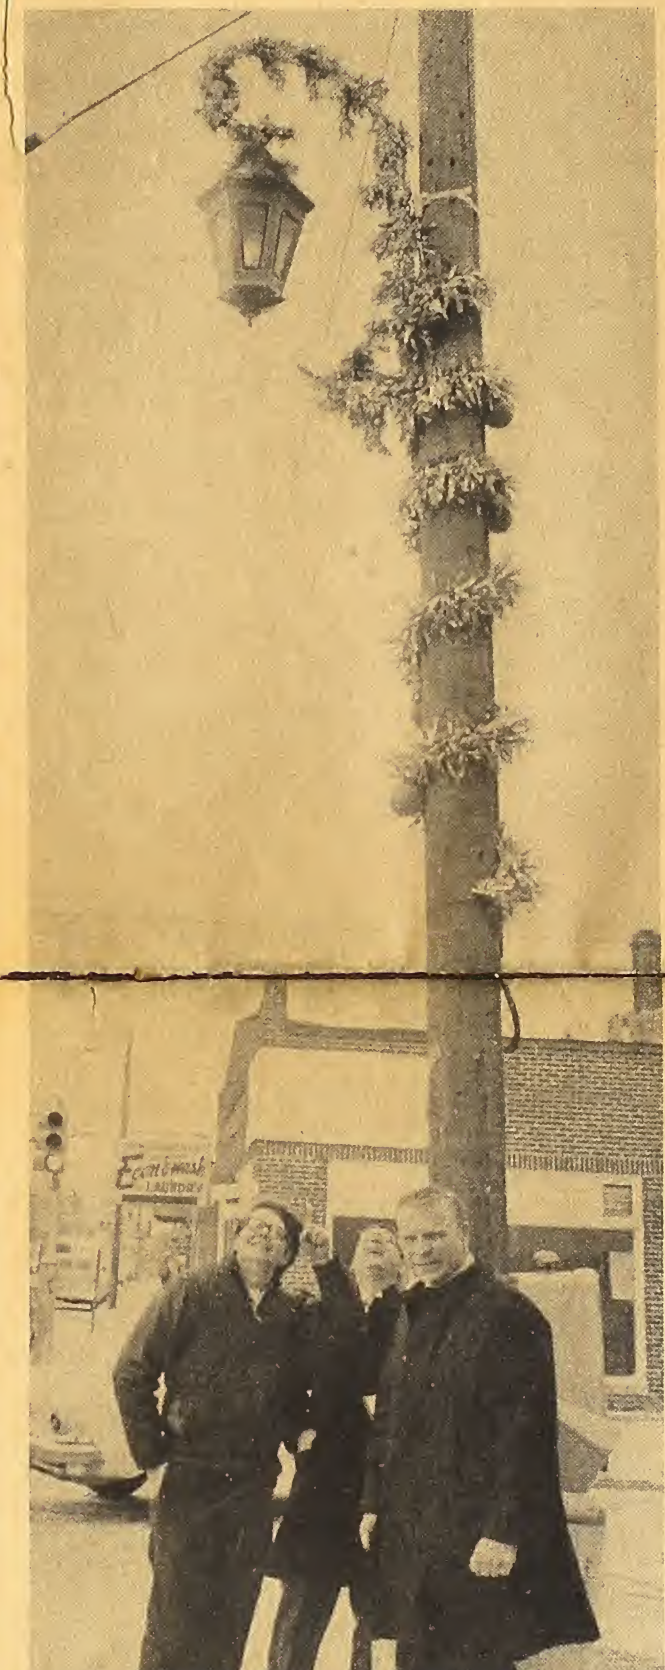

"We are very pleased that federal approval has been granted," said County Commissioner Roscoe Bobo of Ecorse (D-District 18), chairman of the commissioners' Economic Opportunity Committee. "The next step, I understand will be to apply for federal funds to finance program planning and the hiring of an executive staff."

The program is eligible for 80 per cent federal funding, with the 20 per cent balance provided locally in services and/or cash.

A loss is a loss but Belleville cagers proved Friday night at Livonia Bentley that even in defeat they are and will be strong title contenders this year in the Suburban 8 Conference.

Despite a 1-2 over-all and 1-1 conference record, Belleville Coach Allen Gates "feels optimistic that we have turned the corner."

"However, our front line hasn't been playing up to its potential and when the three forwards do put it all together, we will be able to stay on the court with anyone," Gates said.

Bentley exploded for 21 points in the second quarter to pull away from a 19-13 first period edge en route to a 67-63 victory over the Tigers. It was Belleville's initial league loss and Bentley's first victory.

"That second quarter killed us," pointed out Gates. "Sure we came back and narrowed the margin to three with about 2½ minutes to go, but if we hadn't let them get away from us by that many points, I'm certain we would have taken them."

Trailing 40-26 at the half,

Belleville's comeback was led by Al Cicotte who dumped in nine of 13 points then. In foul trouble early, Cicotte managed to do a good job on Bentley's 6-6 center Tim Bollin before fouling out in the fourth quarter.

A fourth quarter Belleville rally sparked by prolific scorer Mike Garland put the Tigers within reach of their host, but Bentley turned their visitors off with a stall that forced the losers to commit fouls to get possession of the ball.

Garland wound up the game's leading scorer with 20 points on nine baskets and two free throws while Marty Miller and Cicotte also finished in double figures. Miller settled for 16 and Cicotte with 13.

Three Bentley players had two figures. Tops for the defending champ was Bollin, with 17, while Gordie Chaisson

TIGER CHEERING SECTION—When you have heavyweight Keith Simons (at right, No. 12) and Gary Krajewski (No. 10) on your side, it's difficult to lose. And Belleville didn't lose this one as Coach Tom Fritz' grapplers handed a 37-18 Suburban 8 Conference loss on to Allen Park's record. Simons, a heavyweight, has pinned all 11 opponents he has faced this season while Krajewski, returning to the mats after a football injury, is 4-0 on the year.

Local boy makes good

By TOM MOORADIAN

For one fraction of a second I thought the sportscasters of the world were going to put Belleville on the map.

Yes, sir, right after Belleville's own Frank Nunley picked off quarterback Greg Landry's pass in the closing minutes of play Sunday to cinch San Francisco's 31-27 victory over the Detroit Lions, we thought our cohorts would give Belleville its due recognition.

We had to settle for "the boy from Michigan," which the announcers cast our hero.

"I got a lot of telegrams from the folk in the area," said Nunley yesterday from his home in San Carlos, Calif. "Would you please thank the folks back there for their support. I really appreciate it."

Nunley and the 49ers will take on the Washington Redskins who sneaked into the playoffs via the "wild card" - Washington had the best second place record in the National Football Conference.

"They're tough," says Nunley about Washington. "They have some fine runners and receivers. And George Allen, their coach, is out to prove a point."

Allen was booted from his job as head coach of the Los Angeles Rams a year ago and was hired by the ailing Washington club. He has built a title contender out of the Redskins.

Nunley had a lot of praise for the Detroit ball club and also "surprise."

"I can't figure out how the team (Detroit) ever missed getting into one of the playoff spots. They should be in the playoffs somewhere," said the former Belleville High and University of Michigan star.

The 230-pound, 6-2 middle linebacker was also surprised about picking off Landry's delinquent aerial, which killed any Lions' hopes of catching the 49ers.

"The whole game was a see-saw affair and there was a lot of pressure on both sides," related Nunley. "And in those last minutes I saw the pass coming right at me. Believe me it was the most important interception of my life."

How many interceptions has Nunley had this year?

"Oh, just one," quipped Nunley. "And I loved it."

Nunley gave credit to "the defense as a whole for the superlative job it did."

"But Brodie was really sharp, wasn't he?" asked Nunley rhetorically. "This guy is something else."

Brodie, the 49er quarterback, ran for a touchdown in the fourth quarter on a broken play from eight yards out that gave the San Francisco aggregation the lead for good. His passing killed Detroit.

Nunley has taken up residence in California, making his home in San Carlos, just outside of San Francisco. He and his wife Lynn have two children - both boys Frank III, 15 months and Jamie Christy six weeks.

Nunley's parents reside in Belleville.

1st swim listing next week

High School swimming coaches in the area are urged to report the outstanding times and performances of those members on their team whom they feel are among the best in the area.

Cherry Hill head coach Jerry Pawloski will again compile the listing for The Daily Eagle and The Associated Newspapers. All those who have not reported their times, should do so before Friday. The first listing will appear next week.

The listing will cover the performances of prep swimmers from the following high schools: Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Franklin and Churchill, Belleville, Garden City East, West, Cherry Hill, Robichaud and Inkster.

Coaches may contact Pawloski at his home, Tel. 941-4399 or at Cherry Hill High School PA 2-5900.

enough, however, we pulled ourselves together in the second half."

A nip-and-tuck affair the first quarter, Romulus found itself with a mere two point edge, 12-10, after the first eight minutes of the struggle. And the Eagles saw that dissipate before the half when the Cosmos took command 32-20.

John Long pumped in 16 of his 27 points in the third quarter to pull the Eagles out of trouble in that period.

Romulus had a 59-42 advantage to protect in the last stanza.

Long tallied on 12 field goals and three free throws for 27 points, which was the best individual scoring performance of the game. Teammates Calvin Harris and Tony Owens also had superlative games with 19 and 18 points, respectively, while Ron Kersey sank 13.

Romulus' performance at the free throw line was limited to 11 of 17. Hamtramck sank seven of 18.

Three Cosmos players managed double figures with Jim Cooper's 19 as tops for the team. Charles Mooror chipped in 14 and Keith Bryant had 12.

The victory may have cost Court and the Eagles more than they were willing to pay for it: high-scoring and defensive specialist Long was injured and it is doubtful he'll be in the lineup until after the New Year.

Long sustained an ankle injury, and the 6-foot-4 sophomore forward has to see a doctor before returning to the court.

After engaging Warren Sterling last night, Romulus will not see action until Tuesday, Jan. 4 when they will host Lincoln Park.

Belleville swim team adds to more victories

Bill Brandell, the former Belleville High head swim coach, got a look at his former charges last week and, after the ceremonies, learned that Tiger tankers are still tough.

Brandell, presently coaching at Battle Creek Lakeview, lost the first nonleague encounter between the high schools as the Tigers picked up eight first places en route to a 60-45 victory.

It was Belleville Coach Sam Vicchy and the Tigers' third successive dual meet victory of the young campaign.

Kirk Cullin managed two first places for the winners, stroking a 1:56.6 to win the 200-yard freestyle, then covering the 400-yard freestyle with a 4:13.7.

Belleville's 400-yard freestyle relay team of Kevin Owen, Matt Byrnes, Steve Rowan and Jeff Fry was clocked with the winning time of 3:44.7.

The Susterka brothers - Barry and Brad - were at it again as Barry won the diving competition with a 239.70 total and Brad was the top performer in the 100-yard backstroke. He pulled up in a 1:02.8.

Other winners included Jim

Ackron, who won the 200-yard individual medley (2:14.9), Terry Mills, a 23.6 performer in the 50-yard freestyle and Fry, a 3:41 effort in the 100-yard freestyle.

Belleville made it four in a row with an overwhelming nonleague victory over Farmington as Tiger tankers again collected the lions' share of first place, including a double triumph by Brad Susterka, an all-area swimmer in last year's campaign.

Susterka stroked a 1:57.8 for his victory in the 200-yard freestyle, then turned a 59.7 to take the 100-yard butterfly.

Rich Beavers established a Farmington record on the diving boards when he accumulated a total of 211.25 points for his win.

Other individual victories went to 200 Kirk Cullin who covered the 50-yard freestyle in 24.4 Terry Mills reached the finish first in the 100-yard freestyle, with the winning time of 43.1, then Dean Ackson's 4:20 performance for the 400-yard freestyle also gave the Tigers a victory.

Coach Vicchy turned to Scott Stone, Jim Ackron, Jeff Fry and Terry Mills for the 200-yard medley relay and the foursome responded with the winning time of 1:50.

Eric Rice, Glenn Howard, Kevin Owen and Jim Ackron

teamed up for the winning time of 3:55.4 for the 400-yard freestyle relay event.

Dean Ackron looked good in the 200-yard freestyle. Despite finishing second with a 1:58.5, he appears to be well on his way in that event. Kirk Cullen also chipped in a second when he touched in with a 54 seconds flat effort for the 100-yard freestyle event.

Belleville will travel to Ohio during the vacations to swim Kent State University High School in a nonleague dual meet. The Tigers will take on Ypsilanti on Jan. 11 in another nonleague to begin the New Year.

Four members of the 1971 Michigan football team - halfback Bill Taylor, (linebacker Mike Taylor, defensive safety Tom Darden and offensive guard Reggie McKenzie - earned All-American honors. They all live in the same house.

Rock turned the bench loose in the final stanza.

The Chiefs continue to have their problems at the free throw line, as well where they came away with only 15 out of 36. Flat Rock made 16 of 33.

One bright spot in the Huron game was the defensive performance of Mike Wauer who took on Kevin Creasman, the champs' leading scorer. Creasman had been averaging 24 points per game, but Wauer allowed his rival only five buckets and a free throw for 11 points.

Two Huron players manged to get into double figures. Fred Cordts hit on seven field goals and three free throws for 17, which equalled Flat Rock's Mark Steffen's point output for the game's individual scoring honors.

Mario Gracia came up with four direct hits from the floor and four free throws for 12 points.

The Steffen brothers - Tom and Mark - accounted for 28 of Flat Rock's points. Mark had 17, and Tom supported him with 11. Also in double figures for the winners were Bruce Clum, with 15, and Dale Scheffler, with 12.

Huron had an out-of-the-conference engagement last night at home to Riverview which wound up the old year for Coach Herman and the Chiefs. They'll begin anew on Jan. 4 when they'll travel to Airport in hopes of breaking a four-game league losing streak.

Belleville 'pins' Allen Park

Tiger sophs come through

You don't talk about titles in the Suburban 8 Conference wrestling circuit - not with such powers as Trenton, Redford Union, Edsel Ford, Dearborn and Belleville hovering about.

You "play 'em" one, or, you wrestle 'em one at a time. And that's what Belleville Coach Tom Fritz is doing these cold wintry nights, wrestling his opponents one at a time.

Belleville's six sophomores came through last week as the Tigers knocked off conference rival Allen Park 37-18. Phil Ford and Frank Horton provided the winners with key victories.

Ford, a 112-pounder, managed to pin Mike Gray in 4:20 for six big points while Horton outwrestled 119-pound rival John Armelogas, 4-2.

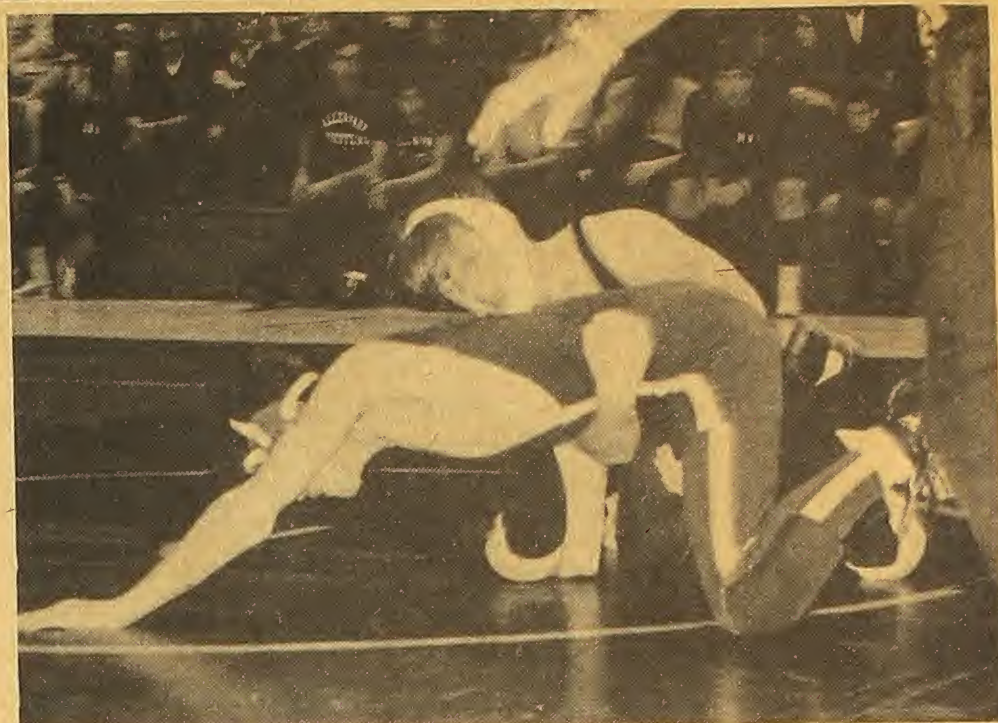

Belleville has three undefeated wrestlers in its lineup, including heavyweight Keith Simons who pinned Doug Armelogas in 55 seconds for his 11th consecutive 6-point triumph of the season.

Also undefeated for Belleville are Jose Garcia (126) who is 11-0 on the season after dumping Ray Swidas, 2-1. Gary Krajewski came up with a 12-1 victory over 167-pounder Joe Arp.

"It was our sophomores who did it," said Fritz, "They finally came through for us and I feel we will be able to stand on our own the rest of the way."

Belleville will resume Suburban 8 Conference competition on the road. The Tigers will take on perennial mat power, Trenton, on Jan. 6.

The results of the meet are as follows:
Belleville (37), Allen Park (18):
98-lbs. Sam Premtal (AP) pinned Paul Hraboski (B), 1:27
105-lbs. Brian Sturgill (AP) pinned Dave Music (B), 5:25
112-lbs. Phil Ford (B) pinned Mike Gray (AP), 4:20
119-lbs. Frank Horton (B) dec. John Armelogas (AP), 4:20
126-lbs. Jose Garcia (B) dec. Ray Swidas (AP), 2-1
132-lbs. John Smith (B) pinned Steve James (AP), 1:48
138-lbs. Hubert Russell (B) pinned Steve Palczynski (AP), 2:48
145-lbs. Kevin Wise (AP) dec. George Medley (B), 6:5
155-lbs. Sam Premtal (AP) dec. Jim Johnson (B), 5:2
167-lbs. Gary Krajewski (B), dec. Joe Arp (AP), 7:5
185-lbs. Terry Pullen (B) dec. Gary Templin (AP), 7:5
HVY-Keith Simons pinned John Armelogas (AP), :55

AN UNMOVABLE OBJECT — Tackling a 112-pound problem is Belleville's Phil Ford who is trying to dump Allen Park's Mike Grey. It ended well for Ford who, of course, had the better idea. He pinned his rival in 4:20, supplying the Tigers with six important points in their 37-18 victory.

Romulus wrestling evens up record

Slow-starting Romulus made it two in a row on the mats last week as Coach Jim Stallings' Eagles plastered Highland Park in a non-conference meet, 52-12.

Romulus left little doubt about the outcome of the meet as the Eagles cashed in on seven pins and a forfeit for the decisive victory. William Powell was awarded the forfeit when the Colts failed to field an opponent for him.

Then, David Brainerd (112), Virgil Smith (132), Rudy Williams (138), Aaron Cross (145), John Arrington (167), Marvin Williams (185) and heavyweight Tom Nault all came through with six-point victories.

Romulus, which started the season with dual meet losses to Detroit Redford and Glenn, has another tough assignment on Jan. 4 when it will run up against an undefeated Wayne Memorial aggregation.

The two rivals will meet on Tuesday at Wayne High.

Stallings moved "everyone up a weight" against Cranbrook, and it really didn't make any difference as the Eagles overpowered their boys would do and they did all right," Stallings said. "But we will have them down to their weights the next time out."

John Arrington, a late starter because of a football injury, continued his rampage in the 185-pound class as he took a mere 36 seconds to pin Ray Maturo. That was Arrington's eighth successive victory against no losses for the season.

Special night time activities will include social events and the chance to meet and talk with selected personalities in the respective sports.

Applicants will be categorized according to age and ability. Because of Big Ten and NCAA regulations, the football camp will be devoted solely to conditioning on Michigan State's artificial turf.

Parents are urged and invited to watch their kids in action on each Friday of the schedule. It will also afford parents the opportunity to meet the coaches and staff.

NCAA rules also stipulate that no individual who has finished high school will be eligible.

Brochures and other information will be sent to the coaches of high schools in the area.

It would be advisable to get applications in as early as possible as there is a limited capacity at each session.

Further information may be obtained by writing Gene Kenny, Department of Athletics, Jenison Gymnasium, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich. 48823.

All activities will be run and conducted on the playing fields and courts, both indoor and outdoor, of the Michigan State Spartans.

Each program offers boys and girls the chance to work with the regular Spartan coaching staff, including football Coach Duffy Daugherty and his staff, basketball Coach Gus Ganakas, hockey Coach Amo Bessone and baseball coach Danny Litwhiler.

The youngsters will live in college dormitories and will be supervised by full-time resident advisers. Three meals each day will be served in the regular college dining halls.

Each session will include a five day instructional period, with swimming a part of every group. Applicants will have the option of staying over the Cage tourneys set

A last second basket by Dave Carlington set up John Glenn's nonleague victory over Inkster's Cherry Hill earlier in the season. The Rockets won a narrow 62-61 victory over the Spartans.

And now the stage is set for the rematch with Glenn clashing with Cherry Hill tomorrow night at the Holiday Basketball Tournament which will begin at 7 p.m. at the Westland high school.

In the nightcap, winless Wayne Memorial will try to break its streak at the expense of a capable Belleville quintet who will carry a 1-2 over-all record into the tournament. Wayne is presently sporting a 0-3 mark.

There will be a new champ crowned at Glenn. Plymouth, the defending champ has pulled out of the tournament, taking Livonia Churchill with them to organize their own tourney.

The four teams at Glenn are evenly matched.

The championship will be decided on Thursday beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Meanwhile, Inkster will face its nemesis, River Rouge, for the first time at a holiday tournament. Coach George Thompson Jr. announced that the Vikings will head for the Rouge tournament which is scheduled to begin Monday, Dec. 27.

The luck of the draw pits the two arch-rivals, Inkster and Rouge, in the first round. Game time is 8:30. In the second game that day Dearborn Edsel Ford will take on Highland Park at 7:00 p.m.

"I'm really happy we will be able to perpetuate this good competition between us and Rouge," said Inkster Coach George Thompson. "And I believe it's going to be a real good game," Thompson said.

The championships will be decided the following day with the consolation round set for 7 p.m. and the title game at 8:30 p.m.

Rouge, a perennial state Class B champ, has been a thorn in the Vikings' side during the past three years. Rouge has been able to shatter Inkster's "B" regional title hopes by ousting their rivals on three separate and successive occasions.

However, this year, since Inkster has moved into the ranks of Class A schools, the two cage foes will not meet in state playoff competition.

Schoolcraft to shoot for gymnastics honors

Schoolcraft College will enter its first intercollegiate gymnastics competition ever when it travels to the DuPage Invitational in Chicago next month.

Following a year's development and preparation as a club, the squad coached by Dr. Cecil C. Woodruff is getting into the thick of varsity competition fast. At the invitational it will go against the University of Chicago, Marquette, Wheaton, Triton College and Milwaukee Tech, to name a few.

The Ocelots' hopes for a good first year ride on the shoulders of five promising gymnasts headed by sophomore Mike McCammon.

McCammon, who prepped at Clarenceville High School in Livonia, placed ninth all around in the national junior College championships last year. The all-around competition involves six Olympic events; floor exercise, side horse, long horse vaulting, still rings, parallel bars and the horizontal bar.

Jerry Reighard, also a sophomore, is a product of John Glenn High School in Westland. His specialties are the parallel bars, still rings, horizontal bar and floor exercise.

DEADLOCK — Allen Park's Steve James (front) is heading for a fall in last week's Belleville dual match. James lasted 1:48 against his 132-pound rival John Smith who came up with this six-point victory. Belleville disposed of the Parkers to make their Suburban Eight debut a winning one.

Belleville Lutherans plan for Christmas

The Planning Committee for Lutheran Church of The Apostles of Belleville met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, Alden Drive, Belleville, recently to hear reports of the financial secretary, the treasurer and the pastor.

Other reports were heard concerning participation with four other local congregations in community activities, plans for the start of Sunday Church School, and a recent meeting of the church women in the Charles Bunyea home to make Chrismons for the Christmas Tree.

Plans are under way for a Candlelight Christmas Eve Service in the VFW Hall, located 44170 Bemis Rd., Belleville at 7:30 p.m. on Christmas Eve. Special music will be presented by a choir under the direction of Mrs. Eldean Weidmayer.

A Christmas Tree will be decorated with Chrismons, Christian monograms and symbols, made from styrofoam and decorated with gold beads, gold thread and gold sequins. The use of Chrismons began about 20 years ago in a church in Pennsylvania which believed that the fabrication and use of the Christian symbols is more meaningful than the traditional use of tinsel and ornaments.

A tentative date for the formal organization of this new mission was set for Palm Sunday, March 26, 1972, at which time the mission will become a formal part of the 3.5 million member Lutheran Church in America.

DATE FUDGE

1 12-oz. package semi-sweet chocolate pieces
two-thirds cup sweetened condensed milk
1 tablespoon water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 8-oz. package Bordo imported diced dates.

Melt chocolate pieces in top of double boiler over hot, not boiling, water.

Remove from heat.
Stir in remaining ingredients and mix until smooth.

Pour into greased loaf pan, approximately 8"x4"

Cool, and cut into squares to serve.

DATE MARSHMALLOWS

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
three-fourth cup boiling water
2 cups sugar
pinch salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add sugar to boiling water and cook until mixture reaches the soft ball stage.

Add vanilla and salt to gelatin.

Pour boiled syrup slowly over gelatin mixture, beating constantly with a wire whisk until mixture is cool and thick.

Add Bordo sliced dates and mix.

Butter a shallow 9"x9" pan and dust with confectioners' sugar.

Pour in mixture and let stand overnight.

Cut into squares and roll in confectioners' sugar before serving.

(xSoft ball stage - 238 degrees F on your candy thermometer, or when a small amount of the boiling sugar and water mixture forms a soft ball when dropped into a glass of cold water.)

YULETIDE TRADITION - Cookie baking is just one of the many crafts demonstrations which will delight the entire family at the Henry Ford Museum special holiday event, "A Currier and Ives Christmas." A visit to the Museum offers an opportunity to capture the spirit of a bygone era. The whole family can enjoy this nostalgic trip to Christmas past seven days a week through January 2 with the exception of Christmas and New Year's Days.

Yuletide traditions recalled at Ford Museum Holiday event

The Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn is alive with activity this Christmas season. Special concerts of Traditional Yuletide music echo through the corridors while busy craftsmen work at their ancient skills and the glowing spirit of the Christmas season is recreated in a series of outstanding displays.

It all came alive December 11 in the special event called "A Currier and Ives Christmas."

In the Museum's main hall, skilled artisans demonstrate a dozen crafts which have been practiced in America for generations. Some are skills that were developed in the home, while others are specialized crafts that were essential to the community and whose practitioners were held in high regard by those who patronized them.

Home crafts such as candle making, quilting, rug hooking and cookie baking show how early American housewives prepared for the holidays. The printer, the potter, the glass blower, the pewterer and the tin smith, on the other hand, show how their counterparts in past Christmases made objects for gifts.

Activity is everywhere. At the potter's shop, candle holders, pots and vessels of many kinds take shape under the craftsman's skilled hands, while down the Street of Early American Shops at the pewterer's, visitors can see the molded tiny toy soldiers and the Christmas bells that thrilled children a century and more ago.

Children are delighted, too, by the dollmaker's art. These simple rag dolls, loved by little girls of great-grandmother's day, are in sharp contrast to the automated specialties of today. Christmas cookies made from authentic old recipes and cut with antique cookie cutters recall the days of family gatherings and holiday baking.

As a fitting complement to these activities, an outstanding exhibit of Currier & Ives prints exemplifying the spirit of the season, fills the special exhibit area. These famous prints, specially assembled for the occasion, recall the simpler pleasures of the Christmases our Grandfathers knew. Exhibit alcoves are decorated in the manner of specific prints. A farm kitchen and a Victorian parlor come to life here to complete the re-creation of earlier Yuletides.

The Museum is decked in holiday finery for this event with garlands of greens, Christmas trees and wreaths of various kinds. Traditional Christmas music fills the air to complete the nostalgic scene and from time to time, short concerts are presented on instruments from the Museum's collection.

WE WISH YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS — Girl Scouts and Brownies from the Belleville community gathered Friday night in front of the Belleville Enterprise-Roman offices for a group sing. Customers visiting local stores that evening were entertained with Christmas caroling performed by the group.

Mrs. Cook is hostess

St. Theresa Circle of St. Anthony's Altar Society met for its annual holiday party Wednesday at the home of Agnes Cook on Morton Taylor Road. Margaret Jahner prepared the roast turkey and dressing with each of the other 14 contributing a dish for the buffet.

After exchanging Christmas gifts, reminiscing was the order of the evening with a letter from a former member, Zanitis Olson of Hawaii, being read.

Members attending were Maxine Sala, Elsie Ostrowski, Donelda McLaughlin, Dorothy Skrzek, Elinor Kenyon, and Helen Friedryk. Also Grace De Francesco, Helen Rochowiak, Alma Memering, Margaret Jahner, Isabel Kalasz, Sharon Collins, Vera Szabo, and Irene Dwornik.

Lucille Remus is new Altar Society prexy

The Altar Society of St. Anthony's Catholic Church held its December meeting in the school hall where election of officers and the annual Christmas party highlighted the evening.

Some 50 members were on hand to elect Mrs. Lucille Remus, president; Mrs. Agnes Cook, vice-president; Mrs. Pat Korgal, secretary; and Mrs. Wanda Eldon, treasurer. The formal installation will take place at the January 4 meeting.

Other business on the agenda included plans for a bingo party in January and the selection of Mrs. Marguerite Szuma as chairman of the apostolate of the sick.

During the social portion of the evening the group exchanged gifts and prepared a holiday package containing items each had brought for patients at the Dion Nursing Home.

Miss Betty Jenkins was at the piano to accompany the Christmas carol sing after which the circle chairmen served finger sandwiches, nut bread, cookies, jello, and relishes, and punch.

Club observes 20th anniversary

RUTH ANN DUDA of Clarence Street played hostess to the Tuesday Night Bunco Club last week as members marked the 20th anniversary of the group. Only three of the original 12 remain - Dorothy Skrzek, Helen Wiertella and Virginia Patke.

After the games, secret pals were disclosed and new names drawn for the following year. Gifts were exchanged after which the hostess served hot ham and Polish sausage, molded salads, pecan pie, and homemade candy and cookies.

Taking top award for the evening was Brenda Neupert with the hostess coping second, Dorothy Skrzek, third; and Jeanette Szabo, consolation.

Former resident is convalescing

A FORMER RESIDENT of the area, Carl Gotts, is convalescing at his home in Largo, Florida following his hospitalization last month. He was a charter member of the Belleville Kiwanis Club and for many years held positions in the Belleville area school system.

Carl, who admits to 82, and his wife celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary on Thanksgiving Day.

His many friends in this community might like to drop him a get-well note or holiday greeting at 1021 15th Avenue, N.W., Largo, 33540.

Luncheon, workshop held by Garden Club

Members of the Huron Valley Garden Club gathered at the home of Mrs. Lilian Carlson of Harmony Lane for their December meeting.

The members met early in the day and artfully created Christmas decorations of natural greens. Some made swags, wreaths, door hangings and beautiful centerpieces. Following the morning workshop luncheon was served by the hostess and the program committee.

Gladys Mast, president, conducted the monthly business meeting. One member stressed the importance of having trees and shrubs well watered before winter begins. Water must penetrate to their roots before the ground is frozen to help them survive the winter.

Four air force bases, Brooks, Kelly, Lackland and Randolph are located near San Antonio.

Are bedroom walls jaded?

Tired walls needn't be tolerated in a bedroom any more than in other rooms of the house. An elegant new appearance can be achieved with easily available materials such as board paneling and wood moldings.

Bedrooms utilized only for sleeping aren't contributing their full potential. A trend in new homes and remodelings has master bedroom suites also serving as sitting rooms, sewing areas, home offices and other uses.

This multiple use means the bedroom should be as attractively decorated as other living spaces, and it's easily accomplished by covering the walls with western wood board paneling, such as western pine or hemlock, left natural to show color and texture or painted or stained to match other decorative accents in the room.

Depth and richness is added to the walls with "frames" of western wood molding, a chair-rail and trim without burdening the family budget.

Another popular addition to master bedrooms is a bath-dressing room. One plan has a central core of shower, tub and toilet units dividing the room, accessible from separate dressing areas with closets and lavatories on each side.

Bathroom decorating needn't be deprived of the warm, natural look of wood. Western red cedar, with its high resistance to humidity, works wonderfully on bathroom walls, adding texture and color.

Open to Garden

Also adjacent to many new or remodeled master bedrooms is the garden room, exciting and inviting, yet easy to build and inexpensive, requiring just 2x4-inch Douglas fir for decking and railing, wood-framed sliding glass doors and a few tubbed plants.

Bi-fold louvered doors to close off the garden room and shuttered doors to the dressing room add to elegant look of the room. Built-in bookshelves, lamp and chairs make a quiet reading corner, and a folding table and storage provide an out-of-the-way area for hobbies or games.

Dance profits donated

The Student Council of South Junior High, Belleville, sponsored a Christmas dance last Friday (Dec. 17) from 3 to 4:30 p.m.

The proceeds from the dance will be donated by the council to give a needy family in the area a happier Christmas.

The Gypsum Band, a group from Belleville High School, was featured. The group which consists of Chuck Skadarazy, Eyvind Claxton, Joe Gaydos and Dick Baisch, donated its time and talent so that there would be more money available for the council to donate.

Faculty members volunteered their services to chaperon the dance. Richard Kiessel, Student Council sponsor and Student Council President George Brown announced the dance a success.

The Van Buren Board of Education has reappointed two members to the Board of Canvassers for school elections. They are Mrs. Shirley Carnahan of 13170 Lenmore, and Gerald Cullin of 46731 Ayres St., both of Belleville. They will serve four-year terms.

The other members of the board are George L. Cravin of 11514 Fischer and Donald Smith of 10644 Quirk Rd., both of Belleville.

Mrs. Carnahan and Craven are the Democrat members of the board and Cullin and Smith, the Republican members.

Drivers volunteer services

Van Buren Public School District's bus drivers are volunteering their own time in driving children in kindergarten and first grade classes to visit Santa Claus.

In previous years, the school board had assumed whatever cost was involved in transporting the children to Santa's workshop, located at Roys and Main streets, Belleville. Lack of school funds to do this threatened the project until the bus driver agreed among themselves to transport the children to make the annual visit to Santa.

The bus drivers pick up the children at the schools twice daily at 9:15 a.m. and 2:15 p.m. and return them to their respective schools after visiting Santa.

Egg farm opens new sales room

Arthur Garlick, operator of an egg farm at 8649 Rawsonville Rd., Belleville, has opened a new sales room. The new sales room, along with facilities for storage and over-the-counter sale of eggs, will be stocked with various food items.

Garlick reported that the farm has 24,000 chickens which are housed in several climate-controlled structures.

A wing of the egg farm where the feeding of the chickens is automated will soon open.

Club for stroke victims formed, holds first meeting

A "Metropolitan Stroke and Aphasia Club," with membership open to recovered stroke patients, relatives of stroke patients, and therapists and physicians who work with stroke patients, has been organized in the Detroit Metropolitan area, it was announced Monday by Mrs. Dorothy Balga, secretary of the group.

More than 50 persons who came to a meeting in the state office of the Michigan Heart Association in Southfield elected officers and voted to charge dues of $5 a year and to meet on the fourth Friday of every month.

Elected were Mrs. Virginia Hawkins, 22, 2767 Springwells, a grocery chain stock auditor, president; Russell Kidd, 45, 236 Emmons Blvd., Wyandotte, a former computer operator for Great Lakes Steel Co., vice-president; and Mrs. Balga, of 9000 East Jefferson, a legal secretary whose husband, Joseph, 50 per cent disabled in his right arm, works as a mechanic in the Belle Isle Standard Station.

Mrs. Balga asked the members, most of whom wore braces and/or used canes, what they wanted from the club, and the usual reply was some form of recreation.

One man replied,

"Anything, but staying at home by myself." Several mentioned an organized effort to increase job opportunities for recovered but disabled patients.

The next meeting of the group is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Jan. 28, at the Kiwanis Building of the Detroit Parks and Recreation Department at East Jefferson and Lenox, and a group therapy session will be held utilizing a speaker

Don't let Yule tree fire spoil the holidays

One of the most untimely events that can happen to mar the holiday season is a home fire that spreads from a burning Christmas tree, warned the Insurance Information Institute.

Such fires are all too common, it said, for almost $4 million dollars in property damage resulted from more than 1,100 Christmas tree fires in 1970, according to National Safety Council statistics.

The pitch-laden tree, with highly flammable needles, usually is quite dry by the time it is set up in the home. Some trees are harvested early in the Fall and are shipped to urban centers for storage until just before the holidays.

The institute offered 10 precautions for a fire-safe Christmas.

1. Pick the freshest tree you can find. Tests include pinching off a needle to see if it's still oily and has a piney scent. Also, bend the branches to see if they are still resilient and do not crack.

2. Cut about three inches from the bottom of the trunk (or until you see sap) and stand the tree in water in a cool spot until you bring it into your home.

3. Stand the tree in a water holder and keep the room cool.

4. The tree should not be near a register or especially a fireplace.

5. Check the light wiring for broken insulation before you hang the strings. Discard faulty lines.

6. Do not put candles on the tree!

7. Keep smokers and their ash trays and decorative candles at least six feet from the tree.

8. Turn off tree lights when you go out or go to bed.

9. If the tree gets unusually dry or droops, get rid of it.

10. If in spite of your care a fire starts, get everyone out of the house at once and call the fire department.

The institute added that you should, under no circumstances, go back to retrieve anything; you may never come out. Tree fires spread fast.

Nine-day boat show opens in Detroit Jan. 29

More than 600 boats of all sizes - from yachts to canoes - will be exhibited at the Greater Michigan Boat Show, one of the largest in the nation, which opens Saturday, Jan. 29, for a nine-day run at the West Eight Mile Armory, Detroit.

In addition to the hundreds of 1972 model boats on display, there will be outboard engines, boating accessories and fishing and water skiing equipment for water sports enthusiasts, including summer recreational apparel for both men and women.

Special activities scheduled daily during the nine-day show include a fashion show, the auction each evening of a boat, trailer, outboard engine, boating accessories, and fishing equipment with a total retail price of $5,000, and a class for beginning boaters jointly conducted by the U.S. Coast Guard, the Power Squadron and the Boat Safety Division of the Department of Natural Resources.

The 1972 show - dubbed the Big Boat Sho - will be the 14th staged by the sponsoring Michigan Marine & Snowmobile Dealers Association. Don Stewart, manager of the show, said "about 100 manufacturers, distributors and dealers will participate and their exhibits will completely fill the 300,000 square feet of available space in the Armory."

Show hours, according to Stewart, are 3 to 11 p.m. Monday through Friday, noon to 11 p.m. on Saturdays, and noon to 9 p.m. on Sundays. Adult admission is $2 with children under 12 free. A 25 per cent discount is available on adult tickets purchased in advance at all J.L. Hudson stores.

Wildcat strike staged at airport

About 180 American Airlines baggage handlers staged a wildcat strike last Wednesday at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport after a fellow worker had been fired for allegedly stealing an orange.

Four flights were delayed briefly by the walkout, an airline spokesman said. Supervisors sorted and handled baggage and some strikers returned late in the afternoon.

The worker was immediately discharged when a supervisor saw him take an orange from a damaged suitcase. Officials of the Transportation Workers Union, which represents the strikers, could not be reached for comment.

Ford co-sponsors bills to improve seniors' lives

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th Dist.) has co-sponsored two bills designed to improve the lives of America's senior citizens.

One, the Older Americans Act Amendments of 1972, is aimed at providing comprehensive services for the elderly, including nutrition, transportation, pre-retirement training and health services.

The other, entitled the Nutrition Program for the Elderly Act, would utilize surplus commodities and combine federal and state funds to bring elderly persons together in social settings for low-cost, well-balanced and nourishing meals.

Congressman Ford noted that the 1971 White House Conference on Aging ended recently with a call for action, rather than rhetoric, on behalf of America's older citizens.

"These two pieces of legislation provide just that," Ford said, "action now to provide dignity and security for our nation's growing number of retirees."

Congressman Ford explained that the Older Americans Act Amendments would extend the existing Act until June 30, 1975, and would authorize a total of $6,000,000,000 for grants to states and communities for programs on aging.

Key provisions of the new programs would include:

- Pre-retirement programs to prepare prospective retirees for the required social and economic adjustments which accompany retirement.
- New emphasis on public service roles for retirees.
- Construction of multi-purpose Senior Centers.
- Assistance in obtaining low-cost transportation and continuing educational services for the elderly.
- Establishment of a National Information and Resource Center for the Aging, with extended research on biological and other aspects of aging.
- The nutrition program would be carried out by the Department of Agriculture with 90 per cent federal funds and 10 per cent state funds or equivalent services. Centers for senior citizens would be located in community facilities such as schools, recreation centers, and other public and private nonprofit locations.
- "It is well established that lack of social contacts and proper nutrition, combined with advancing years, hasten the mental and physical deterioration of elderly persons," Congressman Ford said. "In many cases, this results in nursing-home or other institutional care."
- "This bill seeks to bring the senior citizen out of isolation and into a community setting for a more rewarding life. At least one hot meal a day, for at least five days a week, would be offered.

New VA regulation does not require license

As part of a continuing program to "cut red tape," Veterans Administration announced Monday that a lost birth certificate or marriage license will no longer be the big problem it once was for those who apply for veterans benefits. Less formal proof of marriage and birth is now acceptable under new VA regulations.

Officials noted that a new regulation became effective Oct. 27 which covers payments of compensation, pension, dependency and indemnity compensation and education benefits for veterans, widows and orphan children.

They explained that VA now accepts a veteran's certified statement of marriage, provided neither he nor his wife has been married before, and the agency has no contradictory information on file.

VA also accepts a widow's certified statement of marriage, if agency records substantially support her statement.

Similarly, a veteran's certified statement on the birth of a child of his marriage is acceptable as proof of age and relationship, again, barring VA information to the contrary.

In the case of a deceased veteran, the other parent's certified statement on the birth of the veteran's child is sufficient, provided VA records corroborate the statement.

VA officials pointed out that before the regulation change the agency required all statements of marriages and births to be supported by formalized documentary evidence.

Detroit Edison pledges aid in pollution control

Detroit Edison, participating in recent hearings conducted by the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission in River Rouge, pledged its continued cooperation in attaining clean air and offered suggestions for the implementation plan developed by the commission.

The Dec. 13 hearing and similar meetings are being held throughout the state to formulate plans for complying with the 1970 Amendments to the Federal Clean Air Act of 1967.

Wayne L. Wingert, testifying as Detroit Edison's director of environmental affairs, commended the commission and its staff for the "thorough and outstanding job" they had done in developing the implementation plan and, for the most part, concurred with its proposals.

Wingert said that Detroit Edison has long been among the electric power industry leaders in the research, development and application of effective methods of air and water control and recalled that Edison was the first company in the nation to use electrostatic dust collectors to control emissions from power plant stacks. Such equipment was installed in the company's Trenton Channel Power Plant in the early 1920's. "long before laws required such measures," Wingert noted.

He pointed out that Edison's investment in a cleaner environment had totaled $78 million by the end of 1970 and that the company will spend an additional $65 million during the years 1971-73.

In his testimony, Wingert emphasized the importance of investing funds wisely in air quality measure and recommended revisions in the implementation plan to eliminate state-wide, uniform air quality standards that could result in unnecessary uses of high-quality fuels and other resources in areas where air quality is not a serious problem.

"It is justifiable and, in many cases imperative," Wingert said, "to spend large sums of money and to use premium, low-sulfur fuels in regions where there are high concentration of air pollutants and where the health and welfare of people may be adversely affected. But until these most urgent needs for improvement are met, it does not seem prudent to expand our valuable resources on corrective measures for facilities located in regions where air quality is well within safe limits."

His testimony also included a suggestion that the state implementation plan recognize the importance of the tall stack dispersion approach to prevent unacceptable ground-level concentrations of sulfur oxides. He added that the use of tall stacks should be permitted as an interim solution if it can be demonstrated that their operations meet ground-level sulfur oxides requirements.

Wingert also said his company fully supports the position taken by the Wayne County Health Department and the state regarding nitrogen oxides control and endorses the state's plan to resolve the matter by an evaluation of existing nitrogen oxides levels in the air.

Students raise money for Goodfellows drive

The Belleville-Van Buren Goodfellows Association received a surprise contribution Tuesday in its campaign to bring a merry Christmas to the area's needy families and children.

Students attending the South Junior High School decided to assist the Goodfellows and initiated a fund drive of their own. They collected $75 in nickels, dimes and quarters during the past week.

At an assembly of the student body held Tuesday, the money was contributed to the Goodfellows.

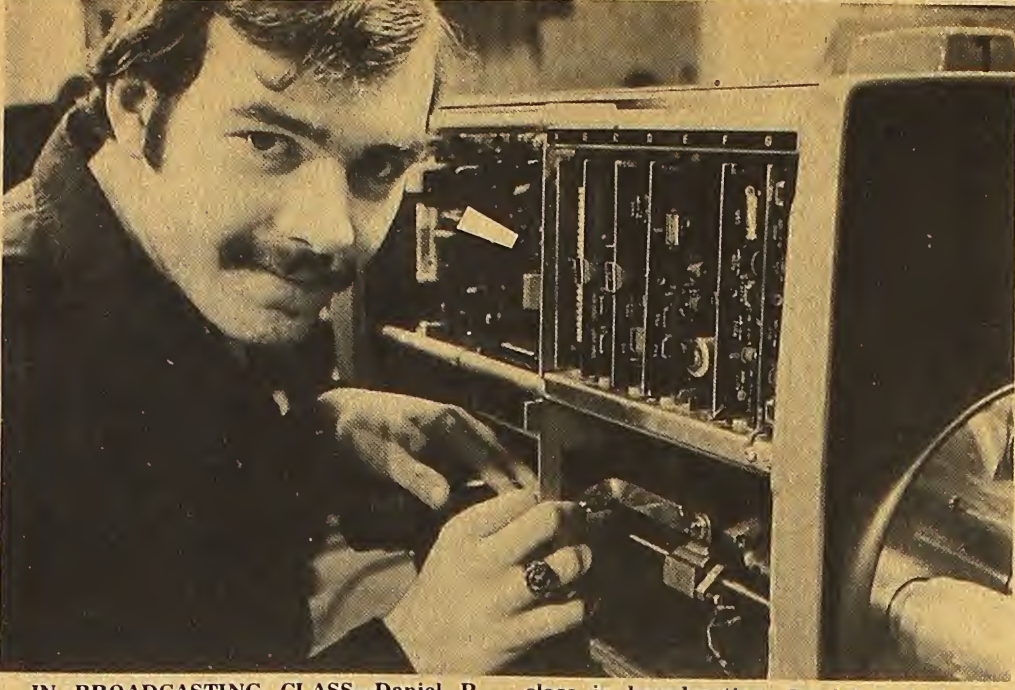

Jerry Maton, president of the Goodfellows, accepted the contribution and expressed thanks not only for the Goodfellows but also for the community as well for the "fine cooperation" of the students in helping the less fortunate.

Hospital authority bills pass legislature

Three bills designed to streamline the law governing the People's Community Hospital Authority were sent to the governor for his signature this week after clearing the Michigan legislature.

Senator William Faust (D-Westland), who sponsored the measures, said that the legislation would place stricter controls on hospital authorities and would revise or remove unimportant and unnecessary sections of the law.

Another bill included in the package removes requirements that resolutions creating hospital authorities specify the number of members to be appointed by participating legislative bodies.

—include an agreement to care for indigent patients.

Commenting on the measure, Faust said the agreement dealing with the hospital care of indigent patients is "unnecessary and superfluous because this is automatically done."

The third bill prohibits members of hospital boards from voting on issues in which they have a conflict of interest, clarifies the duties of the authority's medical advisory committee and makes minor changes in that section of the existing law pertaining to the appointment of hospital boards.

Dr. Karl S. Klicka, executive director of the PCHA, said Friday the authority has supported the three measures.

The three bills included in the package were approved by the Senate earlier this year and passed the Michigan House Monday.

The Senate completed legislative action on the package by concurring in a House amendment made to one of the bills.

One of the measures provides that each community participating in a hospital authority must be given notice prior to a budget hearing in conformance with state required practice.

"Taxpayers have a right to know how a hospital authority—as well as every other legislative body in the State of Michigan—spends its money," said Faust.

Registration cards mailed Voter registration reinstatement cards were mailed recently to Van Buren Township residents who have failed to vote during the last two years, Mrs. Erma Jean Payne, township clerk, reported Monday.

Residents receiving the cards are requested to fill them out and return them to the township clerk's office, 46425 Tyler Rd.

Vote registration lists of the township currently stands at 4,647. This list is presently being checked for voters who have failed to exercise their voting franchise the last two years.

The voting registry, according to state laws, must be purged annually of those persons who have not voted during the previous two years.

In the 1970 vote registration check, 1,394 cards were mailed and only 420 cards asking for reinstatement were returned.

Mt. Pleasant students present Yule assembly

The second graders and the music department at Mt. Pleasant Elementary school Romulus, presented a Christmas Assembly to the other students in the school gymnasium on Dec. 13.

There were three Christmas plays given by the second grade classes. Mrs. Susan Cady's second and third grade classes presented "The Night Before Christmas" with Paul Witherow doing the narrating.

Mrs. Joyce Sullivan's second grade class presented

The vocal music classes included the first graders in Mrs. Judith Hanlon's, Mrs. Venora Hinkle's and Mrs. Sharon Hoogerwerf's rooms, who sang "O Come, Little Children," "The Angel Band" and "Mary Had a Baby." Mrs. Sullivan's and Mrs. Green's second grade classes and Mrs. Cady's second and third grade class sang "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer," "What Child Is This?" and "Pat-a-Pan."

This funny world

General tendencies: A day when you would be wise to avoid having a chip-on-your-shoulder attitude. Don't let little things upset you. When you really think about them, you see they are of minor importance. Some matters may seem delayed and you feel unable to do what you want at this time, but conditions will improve.

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You may feel that you are in a rut but if you count your blessings, you find you are well off indeed. Try to help a friend who is in trouble. Avoid one who opposes you.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Not a good day for contacting good pals since they are likely to be too busy for you. Take care of easy, routine work. Aspects are not good for anything on a larger scale.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Outside activities will not be particularly successful today, so concentrate on those at home. Take care not to jeopardize your standing as a good citizen in any way. Relax tonight.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) You have some fine ideas and you want to put them in operation quickly, but it is best you study them more first. Make your plans for the future quietly and wisely.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't procrastinate any longer in handling financial affairs that are pressing and need immediate attention. Plan more time with loved one in the evening and be happier.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You expect an associate to assume more of the mutual responsibility, but it is actually you who should apply yourself more. Avoid one who wants to get you in trouble. Think logically.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) It is better to handle those tasks ahead of you now and make a good impression on higher-ups. Stop complaining so much. "Early to bed, early to rise," is a good motto to follow.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have to clear up certain duties before you can go out for the entertainment that you have in mind. Don't waste time with persons who are undependable. Use your time wisely.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find out what should be done around your home to improve its appearance as well as the harmony there. Tomorrow would be a better time to invite friends to your home.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can now obtain information from regular source provided you act in a fair and tactful way. Control your temper, since you are closer to reaching your goals. Use patience.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't become unhappy because of small monetary disappointments. Concentrate on the big issues and you regain your confidence. Discuss your business affairs with an expert.

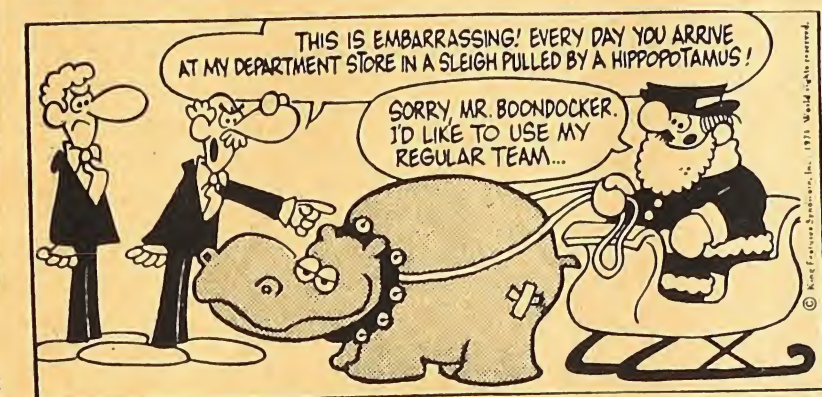

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Losing your temper with others could result in loss of much prestige you are now enjoying. Keep cool, calm and collected. Wait until tomorrow to ask for support from others.

If your child is born today he or she will be one of those delightful young people who is so eager to succeed that there is little patience in the nature. Teach early that life is like climbing a ladder, which has to be done by going up one rung at a time. Upon reaching maturity, your progeny can tackle very big jobs and put them on a practical basis with much success in executing them. Give religious training of own choice for best results.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Even though Santa is busiest with children's wishes at this time of year, he still found time to visit the patients at the Van Buren Convalescent Center located at 44401 Willow Run Expressway, Belleville.

A caroling group, sponsored by the Women's Relief Corps of Belleville, heralded Santa's visit with Christmas songs. Gifts and refreshments were presented to patients who gathered in the occupational therapy room.
